Census Bureau Fixes It at Only 7 3-4 Million Bales

WASHINGTON.—(A)—Cotton consumed during July was reported Thursday by the Census Bureau to have totaled 359,372 bales of lint and 63,134 of linters.

This compares with 600,641 and 91,547 in July last year.

7 3-4 Million Carryover

WASHINGTON.—(A)—The supply of cotton carried over from the last cotton year, which ended July 31, to be added to this year's short crop, was reported Thursday by the Census Bureau to have totaled 7,745,509 bales and 444,211 bales of linters.

New Orleans' Tax Power in Danger

Huey Long Prepares Bills Seizing It for State

BATON ROUGE, La.—(A)—Senator Huey P. Long smiled broadly Wednesday as his obedient House of Representatives cracked down on the hostile New Orleans city government, already harassed by the presence of state troops.

The senator chuckled up his first victory of the special session, a day old, when the house adopted a resolution to investigate the New Orleans officials.

The action was described as similar to the New York investigation by Samuel Seabury which resulted in the resignations of Mayor James J. Walker. It was aimed at Mayor T. Semmes Wamsley of New Orleans, bitter enemy of Long since his Old Regular organization defeated the senator's candidates at the city polls last January.

The house quickly voted to change its methods of procedure to speed up action on what anti-administrators describe as a large number of "split" bills against New Orleans.

The rules were suspended, and all members sent pell mell to one committee, which met immediately to report them out. This spectacular procedure will permit final passage of all the legislation Thursday.

The senate, where Long holds a comfortable majority, met for a short time and adjourned, waiting to act on measures passed by the house.

The legislature had before it a score of measures which could almost completely throttle the finances of the city and other which would increase the power of Long.

One provided that the city could not tax anything not already taxed by the state, another that all money collected from gasoline taxes should be placed in the state treasury, and still another which would create a state police force with power to make arrests.

Carl Bailey Gives State His Thanks for Winning Vote

Second Half of Cypert & Bailey Team Finally "Comes Through"

NO RING, NO MONEY

"But a Man Can Be Elected," Says Conqueror of Hal Norwood

LITTLE ROCK.—(A)—A runoff primary in the state auditor's race—the first since the preferential primary law was passed in 1933—appeared almost certain Thursday as slowly mounting returns left J. Oscar Humphrey 8,032 votes short of a majority over his two opponents in the first primary.

With more than 200,000 votes accounted for, the count stood:

Humphrey 94,717; Parker 61,690; Parrish 41,265.

It is estimated that 7,000 absentee ballots will be counted Friday, and only the official returns can determine definitely whether a runoff is necessary.

Thanks from Bailey

LITTLE ROCK.—(A)—Carl E. Bailey, Pulaski county's militant prosecuting attorney Tuesday became assured of being Arkansas' next attorney general when belated returns increased his lead over Attorney General Hal L. Norwood to 12,027.

With almost complete returns, including 1,880 of the state's 2,120 precincts, the vote was:

Bailey 109,858

Norwood 97,831

By his spectacular victory, a feat that many experienced politicians considered impossible, Mr. Bailey became a potent figure in Arkansas politics. Mr. Norwood, a shrewd, resourceful politician, was considered by many observers to be practically unbeatable.

Two years ago Mr. Bailey toured the state against Mr. Norwood in behalf of his friend Boyd Cypert, former Pulaski county prosecutor, under whom he had served as deputy. The two made a gallant fight but Cypert was defeated after a close contest.

"Grateful," says Bailey

Mr. Bailey made the following statement:

"A compilation of returns from all but a few scattered precincts indicate my nomination for attorney general. I am not unmindful of the serious responsibilities of the attorney general's office and I pledge my word to keep faithfully the public trust which has been imposed to me.

"I am humbly grateful to my friends and to the people of Arkansas who have demonstrated in this campaign that a man can be elected to public office without money and a political machine."

One Run-off Contest Likely

Additional returns in contested races for state officers made little change in the relative standing of the candidates.

The only important change is that it now seems that State Auditor Oscar Humphrey may have to go into a runoff contest with Charles Parker of Camden, whereas earlier it had seemed possible that Mr. Humphrey might have a clear majority over his two opponents.

"The vote from 1800 of the state's 2,120 precincts in this race gives:

Humphrey 93,657

Parker 60,802

Parrish 40,617

Governor 65,882 Ahead

The additional returns merely served to increase Governor Futrell's lead over Howard Reed, former state comptroller. The governor's margin now is 63,822, maintaining his ratio of nearly 2 to 1.

"The vote from 1,839 precincts was:

Futrell 137,471

Reed 71,609

There was little change in the relative standings of the contestants in the other two races.

For secretary of state, 1,831 precincts gave:

McDonald 108,623

For state treasurer, 1,798 precincts gave:

Couple of Home Town Men "Crash" Gazette

Results of the vote for governor and attorney general in Hempstead county brought a peculiar satisfaction to two residents of the county Alex Washburn, editor of the Hope Star, and O. A. Graves, campaign manager for Governor Futrell.

The governor carried the county by a vote of approximately 4 to 1.

Editor Washburn, militant critic of Attorney General Norwood during the campaign, wrote a widely-reproduced editorial in which he said that he would be willing to go hungry to bring about Norwood's defeat.

The attorney general replied with an open letter that closed with:

"As always, with the greatest contempt."

Nearly complete returns from the county for attorney general gave: Bailey 2,205; Norwood 672.

To Be Safe, Be Sober When Driving Auto

If there ever is a time when you need perfect judgment and quick presence of mind, it is when you are driving an automobile. That is why sobriety is the first law of safe driving.

Most traffic accidents happen because drivers do not react quickly to what they see or hear and decide to take a chance. Alcohol dulls the memory, slows the reaction time, and weakens judgment.

Ordinarily we react in about one-fifth of a second to what we see or hear—that is our reaction time. With alcohol in control of our minds, the reaction time is slowed to two-fifths of a second.

Suppose you are going 60 miles an hour, which is much too fast. You are traveling 88 feet a second.

If you lose two-fifths of a second in deciding what to do, you will go 35 feet before you do anything. A lot of things can happen in that distance.

In an emergency, one-fifth of a second means the difference between crippling or death, and safety.

The motorist who is usually careful will, after he has had a little alcohol, do things that otherwise he would never attempt. He will try to race a train, turn a corner at high speed, or pass another car going up a hill.

A man is not sober because he can walk and talk. Scientific experiments show a measurable loss of efficiency and judgment even when small amounts of alcohol are accumulated in the body.

The unmistakable place of alcohol in causing motor accidents is demonstrated in the tremendous week-end peak of accidents due to drinking. Alcohol starts at the top of the mind and hits judgment first.

There are, of course, various degrees of intoxication. Since it is now known that even very small amounts of alcohol may sufficiently disturb some people to make motor driving dangerous, a few simple tests have been developed to indicate whether a driver may be considered competent.

A very simple test is to ask the person to touch his nose with a finger of both the right and the left hand. Another simple test is to ask the person being examined to take a key, walk across the room, unlock a door and then bring the key back. In this way you may learn whether the walking is normal and straight, whether there is stumbling with the lock, whether the person can turn without becoming confused and whether his hand trembles.

Another test is to ask the person under investigation to read, and see whether there is slurring or stumbling in the reading. It is also known that the memory of recent things is often confused under the influence of alcohol, so that you might ask such things as what foods were eaten for luncheon or breakfast, what time the trip started, and similar simple questions.

Before Child Is Vaccinated Give Doctor the History of Any Recent Illness

As fall approaches and Jimmy begins to think of how the schoolhouse looks on the inside, his parents are giving more than a thought to his vaccination.

It has to be done, they know, because the Smiths and the Browns tried to get their six-year-olds in last year without it and it just couldn't be managed.

No—the Board of Health and the School Board and everybody concerned with health and disease is adamant about that certificate of vaccination. And this means one that has been "taken" too. If it doesn't take the first time it usually has to be done over again, or even again, depending on circumstances and Johnny.

Over Quickly

So they take him to the doctor and it's all over in a minute. His mother is told to keep a clean gauze bandage over it, to watch that Johnny doesn't touch or scratch it and carry the pus to his eyes or another abrasion on his body, and to give him only sponge baths while his arm is sore.

If he is a little upset and does not eat well, or has a slight rise in temperature she is not to worry, but let him take it easy and eat light but nourishing food.

In the long run Johnny has a "scar" he is proud of, gets his certificate signed and all is well.

There are a few things to be cleared up, however, in the anxious parents' minds, particularly if the child has had a recent illness or one of a severe type in the past few months.

I n such a case it is only fair to the doctor, if he is a stranger (and fair to Johnny, too) to see that he is given the complete story of the sickness, and even a history in brief, of all his serious illnesses. It so happens that once in many times the doctor will decide to postpone the vaccination until a bit later.

If Johnny's own doctor is to scratch the small arm and introduce the virus, he will, of course, know whether it is wise to wait. If he is not to do the work, it might be wise to have him write a short outline of Johnny's past history to hand to the new doctor.

Cure Disease

Such cases are few but there is more recognition being given now to the history of certain ailing children than formerly.

As for the rite itself, it still irritates many parents that their children have to be vaccinated at all. "Small-pox? Why, you might as well say that we'll get black-water fever," they say. "It's something nobody gets any more—here, anyway. Small-pox is obsolete."

That is why—no small-pox because of vaccination. If it were stopped, probably no one could answer for the consequences. It has been found to spring up in epidemic form when vaccination ceased. If we could stamp out infantile paralysis by vaccination, what mother would hesitate?

If this happened and some day it had disappeared, the parents of that future time might be as greatly puzzled by the custom as our parents are today by the small-pox prevention. Then today's parents could tell them a thing or two. "Be patient," they would urge. "You don't know how terrible that disease is." And it is the same with small-pox. The old timers could tell us a few things, without doubt.

Catfish become nervous and irritable at least six hours before an earthquake, according to investigations of Japanese scientists.

The Smithsonian Institution has a collection of more than 2000 musical instruments of primitive tribes.

The California desert has a native reptile which lives under the sand and moves through it with a swimming motion.

Approximately 75 per cent of the women in England are brunets, judging from the sale of cosmetics there.

Chauffeur Got Rich, and Heirs Got Mad—Here's a Sardonic Novel of New York Society Folk

By BRUCE CATTON

When a rich old woman dies, childless, the surviving relatives are more or less likely to leap upon the estate with well-sharpened knives.

But if, in addition, she was a scandalous old dame who carried on flagrantly with her chauffeur and heaped rich gifts upon him throughout a decade of zealous but sinful living, then the relatives will advance to the attack like an army, with banners, full of righteousness and covetousness.

This is the situation you get in Mathilde Eiker's satiric novel, "Heirs of Mrs. Willingdon."

Mrs. Willingdon was the widow of a rich New Yorker. She solaced her declining years with her handsome chauffeur, and her adult step-children all gave her the cold shoulder. When she died, her estate, under her husband's will, reverted to these step-children; but she had loaded the chauffeur with so many gifts that the heirs felt they had been gyped. So they set out to make him disgorge.

Two factors complicated the situation. One of the heirs, not joining in the scramble, promptly hired the chauffeur for herself; and the son of another heir fell violently in love

Sure Relief for Malaria!

Don't try home-made treatments or new-fangled remedies. Take that good old Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Soon you will be yourself again, for Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic not only relieves the symptoms of Malaria, but destroys the infection itself.

The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic kills the Malarial infection in the blood while the iron it contains builds up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and fortify against further attack. The twofold effect is absolutely necessary to the overcoming of Malaria. Besides being a dependable remedy for Malaria, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is also an excellent tonic of general use. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle today at any store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

The Song
Someone wrote a song of love,
Upon a mountain peak,
A bird above the pines there,
Blue and golden streak,
Had glanced and printed on his soul
The words without a tone.
God's creature felt the strength of joy
And made the tune his own;
Then as the envoy raised his head
The waves consumed his plea,
Drifting through the room today,
The scene came to me.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES
Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes of filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount, burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of congested kidneys, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up at night, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 2 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934. Foster-McBee Co.

Fugitive Convicts on Wild Joy Ride

3 Escaped Prisoners Believed in Hugo-Nashville Episode

HUGO, Okla.—(AP)—Three men involved in a wild ride in this area were believed Wednesday by Hugo officials to be fugitives from the Arkansas prison farm at Tucker.

Chief of Police Clyde Pitts said descriptions given him by the two girls who accompanied the men on part of their ride tallied with those of a trio who fled the prison farm on August 12.

The girls were let out of the car near here Wednesday and told officers they had ridden with the men to Nashville, Ark. and back. They said one of the three men was pushed out of the car by the others when he became unruly and flourished a pistol.

Police believe this was the man who reported here Tuesday that he was robbed of his car, giving a Texarkana, (Ark.) name and address, later found to be false. He could not be found Wednesday.

The girls, Ruby Martin and Margaret Smith, said they persuaded the men to let them go after they had shown them an Arkansas newspaper with an account of the Tucker escapes. The Martin woman's five-year-old son was with them during the ride.

Hugo officers were informed the three who escaped from Tucker farm were Fundley Satterfield, Buster Yates and Curley Smith. The officers believe Satterfield is the man who made the report here.

LAWYER IS BEATEN

The sale following the attack, said that Waugh had told him that he could not identify the men responsible for the beating, and that no arrests had been made. The men were in or around the court house at the time of the assault.

The tax sale disposed of the 13 farms for about one-tenth of their value, the sheriff explained. One 400-acre tract was bid in at $18.50. Sale prices adhere closely to the costs in each case.

Waugh, telling of the attack, said he was in the sheriff's office on the first floor of the courthouse when the officer left to open Circuit Court in a room on the third floor.

Later when Waugh sought to follow the sheriff, he said he was accosted by several men in the hallway.

"If you go on with this you are going to get the—beat out of you," he said he was told after he admitted he intended to bid on the property at the tax sale.

A moment later the lawyer said, several men seized him and beat him unconscious. Both eyes were discolored. The victim's shirt was torn from his back and several gashes were cut in his head.

Diana Wynyard in "One More River"

At Saenger Thursday and Friday in Galsworthy's Story

Few screen players who ever came to Hollywood have registered such an immediate impression on the film moguls as did Diana Wynyard, previously popular on the English stage.

She had hardly arrived in the film capital, it seemed, when she was presented in featured roles in "Cavalcade," "Rasputin and the Empress," and "Reunion in Vienna," three pictures of rare importance. The Barrymores pronounced her the find of the year, and motion picture producers apparently agreed with them most enthusiastically.

But the finest work of her career is seen in "One More River," the drama in which she is seen in the starring role and now showing at the Saenger. Her classic English beauty and her great dramatic talent are ideal in this picturization of the novel by John Galsworthy. She seems made for the part.

good tonic for my children. I used it all the time when I lived in Louisiana, and am anxious to get it again. Mrs. J. A. Haynes, 310 So. William St., Goldsboro, N. C., December 8, 1932. Dr. J. C. Mendenhall, Carolina Hotel, Raleigh, N. C. In reply to your letter of the 5th, will state that I used your Chill Tonic when my children were small, over twenty years ago, when we lived in Louisiana. I have five grandchildren, and we give them Mendenhall's for Constipation, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Colds, and Coughs—due to Colds, and they need no other medicine. Mrs. J. A. Haynes.

NOTE: We make Mendenhall's Malaria Chill and Fever Tonic in two forms—with and without arsenic. As to the value of our Chill Tonic with arsenic, we quote from the U. S. Dispensary: "Arsenic is the most successful agent in the treatment of chronic malaria, malarial or bilious fever, intermittent fever or chills, brownish headache, neuralgia or rheumatism due to malarial or general bad health. It increases the appetite and digestion, weight and strength of the patient, and has great power to improve the condition of the blood. It is one of the few substances which deserve the name of a general tonic." Made by J. C. Mendenhall Medicine Co., Evansville, Indiana.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and % of our food decays in our 25 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whiffed tomato, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it. (It may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25c. ©1934, C.M.Co.
